

Bingo?

Purpose: Bingo is a familiar and fun game. This elongated version is a non-intrusive way to connect with your team, encourage interaction and build a routine. This can be played in an office environment or with a remote team.

Materials:

- Bingo Set including Cards
- Prizes for winners

Setup

- Hand Out Bingo Cards – make record of who gets what card. Remote teams – You can take a photo of the assigned Bingo Card and email it to the participant.
- Assign a location to place the Daily Bingo Number.
  - Office Breakroom
  - Office Door
  - Remote Teams – Posted online in a Facebook Group, Shared Document site, Folder or daily email

Activity:

This game is designed to be played over a set amount of days or weeks.

- Assign Bingo cards to the team
- Announce the location and time when the new Daily Bingo Number will be posted.
- Announce the type of Bingo you are playing.
  - Standard Bingo – One straight line
  - L Shape – When a player gets every B Square and Bottom line
  - B & O – to win, every square in the B and O line are covered.
  - Frame – The frame for this pattern can be on the outside or the inside of the bingo card.
  - Top & Bottom – This pattern is created when a player plays all top and bottom squares on their bingo card.
- Each day – Post the Bingo Number (I suggest using an actual Bingo set to ensure the daily pick remains random)
- Set a standard for how a player notifies you if they get a Bingo. It can be an email or text message or post in the group. Make sure they bring or send a picture of their completed Bingo Card.
- When someone gets bingo, Make a Big Announcement and give them a prize.

- Play again! Be sure to change The Bingo cards and start the game over!

Conclusion

Have fun with this one. Its almost too easy. Stay ontop of posting the Bingo Numbers and make a Big Deal when someone wins! Prizes can be anything you chose.
